Biography

My name is Terrence Narinesingh and I grew up in Trinidad and England. I began my career in 2006 as a high school Science teacher in South Florida. I was promoted to the roles of Instructional Specialist, Assistant Principal, Adjunct Professor, District-level Supervising Assistant Principal and Principal. I currently serves as a School Principal in a large urban school district and an Adjunct Professor of Educational Leadership at a four-year university.

#principal #k-12

I am taking this module to increase my knowledge as a School Principal and Educational Leadership Researcher to understand academic rigor in teachers' developmentally appropriate practices and to help them build positive relationships with young children, which would ultimately increase student achievement. #rigor #relevance #positiverelationships #studentachievement

My individualized learning goal for this course is better understand and counter the impact of early adversity on the development of children. #counterearlyadversity #childdevelopment
