

Learning to Talk by Talking

Section 1: Orientation

Welcome to Online Learning Video Transcript

Welcome to online learning at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. My name is Jillian, and I'm a student here at HGSE. In this video, I'm going to help ensure that your browser is compatible with our video formatting. If you can see me and hear me, you're all set.

Now, let's get you situated with the controls you'll see below this and most other videos in the course. Look below for the CC button, and click that. You should see closed captions turn on and off as you toggle that button. Next, check out the 1x button. This controls the speed of the video playback. Go ahead and change that setting to make me talk faster or more slowly. Finally, the Full Screen button will open this video in, well, a full screen. Below this video player, you should also see an option to download an audio-only version of this video. That option may be helpful for longer videos that you may want to listen to separately, perhaps in your car or on the train.

That's it. You're now prepared to successfully engage with the video content in this course.
